Principal's Message

Greetings to all!

“Know all the theories, master all the techniques, but as you touch a human soul, be just another human soul...” - Carl Jung.

This profound quote inspires me, as we are privileged to be educators who touch human lives every day.

At JEHS, we are acutely aware of the importance of fostering holistic education, and it has always been our steadfast commitment to uphold this promise.

We implement a well-balanced curriculum that adheres to NEP guidelines, ensuring that the children who enter our school are well-prepared to face life's challenges. As we impart education that keeps pace with technological advancements, we also instil a strong foundation of moral values and principles. With nurturing care, we shape their young minds to embrace the world that eagerly awaits them. Our classroom activities are thoughtfully designed to provide every student with opportunities to participate and excel.

We remain dedicated to our mission of instilling high standards of academic excellence, integrity, and leadership in all our endeavors. Our experienced teachers provide nurturing support, creating an environment where students feel at home, complemented by the guidance of our skilled counselor. We believe that effective education is a triadic connection among students, their families, and the school, all collaborating to achieve success. At JEHS, teachers within each cluster engage in collaborative brainstorming to design pedagogical practices that resonate with the interests and affinities of our students. With a deeply committed and supportive management team, dedicated educators, and cooperative parents, we are confident in our ability to raise the bar of excellence each year.

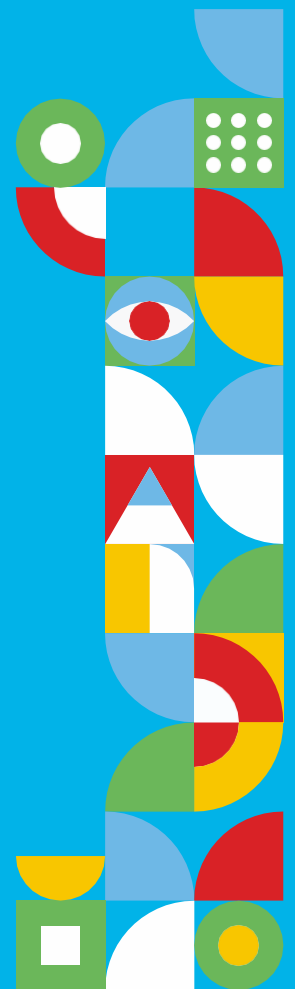

To enhance experiential learning, we offer well-equipped Science, Maths, Language, and Computer labs that facilitate hands-on experiences. Our co-curricular activities include Taekwondo, Robotics, Performing Arts, Instrumental Music, and a variety of other sports. We aim to promote greater student involvement in extracurricular activities, resulting in more engaged students with diverse skill sets.

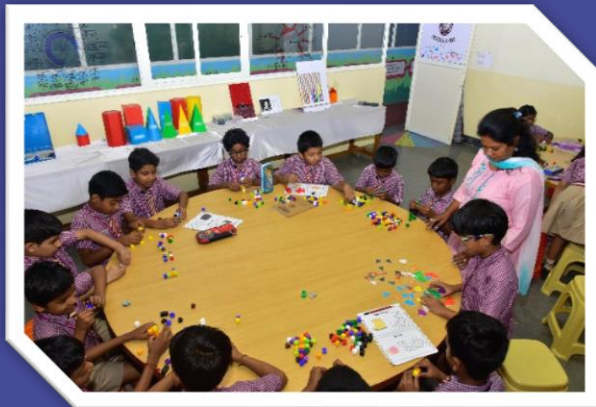

Our school serves as a vital voice in our community, and our teaching methods reflect the revolutionary advancements that continuously reshape it. We live in exciting times, and to help the younger generation align their intellectual, physical, moral, emotional, and aesthetic development with the numerous demands and challenges they face, we create an educational paradigm that is innovative, stimulating, insightful, dialogic, and attuned to the significant role it plays in a student's life.

If nothing ever changed, there would not be a sunrise each morning. Regardless of whether a situation is good or bad, it will evolve. So embrace change and understand that it occurs for a reason. While it may not always be easy or apparent at first, in the end, it will be worthwhile.

Looking forward to a safe and productive year ahead.

With warm wishes,
Rekha Kurup
